Description

The Center for Change is an alternative school associated with the Regional Office of Education #47. It draws students from Lee, Ogle, and Whiteside counties. Enrollment is current 63 students. The school offers an alternative education program for students who suffer behavioral, emotional, and social concerns.

The Center for Change is interested in becoming a member of the Rock River Library Consortium (RRLC). They've been in touch with RAILS Director of Technology Anne Slaughter and Sterling Public Library Director Jennifer Slaney about applying for a RAILS Catalog Membership Grant. The school would also like to be eligible for other grants and possibly look to join eRead Illinois.
