7. NEW BUSINESS

7.1. Roundtable discussion

The subcommittee discussed the process of creating a library friendly list of EDI performers or showcases that present on topics that reflect the EDI community.

The Data Studio tool will provide a way for library staff to share and view resources organized in one place. The subcommittee outlined important features they would like to include in the performer and presenter list. It was decided this project would be a list of other lists that have been compiled and vetted. The subcommittee will maintain the list for link accuracy.

Amber Hayes shared the link to the ALA EDI Speakers page as an example of a similar tool.

<https://edispeakers.ala.org/>.

It was suggested to provide a comment section to note strengths of presentation, important information, fees, what to expect. There must be a disclaimer stating this tool is not an endorsement. A contact email for the subcommittee should be provided for users to give feedback.

7.2. Select a first project for the subcommittee

The Programs, Services and Outreach subcommittee has selected as a first project to compile and maintain a library friendly list of EDI performers and presenters.

7.3. Determine next steps for project development

General discussion:

- We must determine if we will lean on existing lists or create our own.
- The subcommittee must determine the criteria and process of approval for posting a presenter on the list.
- Tags will be used to filter and categorize the list by content and library types.
- Authentic voices of any type of programming will be included in the list and tagged. The subcommittee must determine what qualifies as an authentic voice and the approval process.
- All library types will be included in the focus of the list.
- The performers who self-submit would need to be reviewed and references would be required.
- Communicating the list is important. The list will be housed on the RAILS website.
- A process will be developed to hand off the project to subcommittee members at different stages of the project to avoid violation of OMA rules.

Next Steps:

1) Platform: Have the platform set up by the next subcommittee meeting on July 13, 2021. Becky Spratford and Rosie Camargo will work with Grant Halter to set up a mockup of the list using the Data Studio platform. Biz Ryan, EDI consultant, will review the mockup at the July 13th subcommittee meeting.

2) Content: Amber Hayes and Kristen Rademacher will look for lists and determine what information to include in the platform.

3) Annotations: Leora Siegel will look at annotations for the content.

4) Population: Cristina Bueno will research speakers that could be added to the list.

5) Submissions: Once this subcommittee has learned more about populating the list and determined an approval process, it will be opened for submissions by libraries.

6) Vetting: Form a committee to be responsible for vetting submissions.

7.4. Shared learning with Data Studio

Monica Harris explained the Programs, Services, & Outreach subcommittee has its own section in the EDI Data Studio platform. This is a great place to share lists for consideration for posting to the list of performers and presenters project. Subcommittee members are encouraged to continue to look at the sections of the platform housing the main EDI committee as well as the other subcommittees. The EDI Staff, Training, Leadership and Advocacy subcommittee is compiling a similar list of resources and has offered to help this group.

7.5. Revised meeting schedule

The FY2022 meeting schedule was revised to meet every other month instead of the monthly schedule set at the previous meeting. It was noted the October 12, 2021 meeting conflicts with ILA conference. The subcommittee members agreed to approve the meeting schedule as is and make a decision about the October meeting when it is closer to the date.

Becky Spratford moved, and Kristen Rademacher seconded, that

THE PROGRAMS, SERVICES & OUTREACH SUBCOMMITTEE FY2022 MEETING SCHEDULE BE APPROVED.
